Subject: 2022 General Election Endorsements

October 20, 2022

UA Local 290 members,

The 2022 general election is in full swing, and your union is working to get good leaders elected at the Local, State, and National levels. The November 8 election day is fast approaching - and we have issued endorsements for candidates who will fight for Labor.

The political landscape is always changing, and we have many seats up for election this year, with many new faces running. The UA Local 290 PAC has spoken with candidates in many races in Oregon and have found those who we know will work with us to protect our work, wages and benefits, safety, training standards, and working conditions.

We have endorsed the list below knowing they will stand with us in the fights to come, please consider these candidates when you fill out your ballots. Through our interview process we know the individuals who will help fight for our livelihoods and Union families. UA Local 290 is proud of these endorsements.

Ballots have been mailed, so keep an eye out! It's critical that we help shape the future of our communities through the democratic process, and I hope that no matter how you choose to vote, you will send in your ballot and make your voice heard. Election Day is November 8, so be sure to get your ballot in by then. If mailing your ballot, it needs to be postmarked no later than November 8 to be counted, and again, to be on the safe side vote early.
